

Our experienced and qualified professionals can work for you

Managing and conducting corporate finance and accounting

Do you need to fill a vacancy in your financial department for a specified period?

Do you want to be sure that you acquire an employee with the relevant qualification who will quickly take on all the necessary responsibilities and duties?

Do you have specific requirements regarding working time?

Currently, a range of companies are facing new demands in work-time management. New projects arise that require the hiring of new employees. Times arise in which the volume of work exceeds the capacity of your current team. Changes occur due to maternity leave or it is necessary to quickly fill current or new employment positions. In order to guarantee that the implementation of those changes does not weaken the market position of your company, it is vital to react flexibly and to ensure that newly selected employees are not just professionals in their field but also that they take on their working responsibilities in a short period of time and start to function completely independently without the necessity of excess supervision.

Do you also have this kind of need in your company?

We have a solution for you

- An analysis of your situation done together with you
- A selection of the professionals with the relevant qualifications and experience in the field of accounting and audit gained in our company, in which they have passed a range of professional trainings and continuous education
- Proposal for optimum inclusion of new employees in your current organisational structure, assistance in defining job content or distributing tasks in a department
