“Al Massar”

Branded as the “Al Massar” (The Path) Programme, this structured work experience opportunity is your pathway into the world of work and into a career at PwC Middle East. Our programme is aimed at talented and ambitious applicants who wish to gain an insight into our business and develop their skills before starting their final year at university.

If you're a penultimate year student (with one full year of study remaining) you can apply to join us for 4 - 8 weeks over the summer. Our Summer Internship will give you a real-world experience of life at PwC Middle East. It offers you the opportunity to discover what a career with us is really all about, as well as boost your skills. You'll have the chance to work alongside our specialists in one of our business areas, and gain a valuable insight into our business and culture. As an intern, you'll experience PwC's professional services world, which is undoubtedly the best learning environment. Do well and you could go back to university with a graduate job offer.

Our programme can shape the direction of your career, providing you with:

Training

Participate in training to develop your technical and business skills

Client experiences

The opportunity to work on real life client tasks during your internship

Work Shadowing experiences

Shadow other PwC professionals and get an insight into the world of work

Coaching and career guidance

Kick-start conversations about your career path

Networking events

Network and socialise with your colleagues and cohorts

We have a limited number of internship opportunities so apply early to avoid disappointment.
