

The kind of people we look out for

We recruit strong university graduates, regardless of the nature of the degree - be it business, art or science oriented. Or, ACCA/ACA students who have already completed their level 2 papers.

But, academic performance is not enough. You need to:

- Understand and show interest in client service and be able to respond flexibly to meet clients' needs
- Be naturally collaborative and committed to building relationships with your colleagues and clients
- Communicate clearly, listen effectively and influence others
- Take advantage of new learning opportunities and be creative in your thinking
