

Sustainability Reporting and the GRI Standards

Full-day workshop

A practical workshop to help you prepare your sustainability report

Objective

A workshop on sustainability reporting providing you with practical guidance on how to structure and develop a sustainability report in accordance with the GRI Standards.

Who should attend?

Investor relations, risk officers, legal and compliance professionals, communication specialists and sustainability practitioners

Background

SGX has recently released mandatory sustainability reporting guidelines for listed companies on a 'comply or explain' basis for the financial year ending 31 December 2017. Companies will have to publish a sustainability report using a globally recognized reporting framework. The GRI Standards is a well-known sustainability reporting framework which has been adopted by thousands of companies in over 90 countries. This workshop will provide an introduction to sustainability and take you through the sustainability reporting process. It will also provide practical guidance on how to structure and develop a sustainability report in accordance with the GRI Standards and in compliance to the SGX guidelines.

Benefits

Is your organization planning to comply with the SGX guidelines? Are you interested in learning how to structure and develop a sustainability report in accordance with the GRI Standards?

With this workshop you will:

- Understand the importance of sustainability and sustainability reporting
- Receive insights on what sustainability reporting is about with a focus on the GRI Standards
