From 1 July 2008, Tomáš Kuča, who currently leads our Business Advisory practice, will become a new Advisory Partner of PricewaterhouseCoopers in Slovakia.

Tomáš Kuča joined PricewaterhouseCoopers' assurance practice in 1994. He soon focused on advisory services. Tomáš lead several projects in telecommunications and other sectors. As part of his professional development, Tomáš spent two years in Canada (1999 /2000), where he gained skills and experience managing large international projects in North America and the Caribbean. He further developed this knowledge after he returned to the Czech Republic. Since 2006, Tomáš has been working with PricewaterhouseCoopers Slovensko. In Slovakia, he shared in developing services in six major industries: the automotive industry, the financial sector, the power industry, telecommunications, the public sector, and real estate.

In his new role as Partner in PricewaterhouseCoopers in Slovakia, he will be responsible for comprehensive advisory services focused on improved strategic management, restructuring, IT, corporate finance, investigation and forensic services, and transaction services.

In his position as Partner, Tomáš intends to further develop the success of PricewaterhouseCoopers' Advisory practice in Slovakia so that "clients feel our support regardless of the type of service they want to get. Our ambition is to become a leader in advisory services in Slovakia and provide the highest quality professional services, so that clients will always come back with confidence."

Tomáš Kuča studied at the Business Faculty of the Technical University in Brno. He is a member of the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA) and a Certified Information Systems Auditor (CISA). Tomas is married and has three children. He is fond of travelling, playing golf and diving.
