Patrik Horný - new Partner for the Consulting practice of PwC in Slovakia

Patrik Horný has been appointed as a new Partner for the Consulting practice of PwC in Slovakia.

Patrik is the Partner for PwC's Slovak–Czech–Hungarian cross-border consulting team, responsible for the fields of Transformation Consulting and Technology Management. His team of consulting professionals supports clients with the development of agile business models, and the improvement of the time-to-market of new solutions and products, covering the change from cultural aspects to the adaption of innovation processes and governance - all in close cooperation with the global PwC network.

Patrik has broad experience in Innovation and Transformation Management and Business Technology management and implementation. He was the founder of the Czech subsidiary of the global systems integrator, Capgemini, where he held the position of Country Managing Director. He was responsible for complex projects in the CEE region, as part of the regional Board of Directors. Just before he came to PwC, he had worked at Deloitte as Director, Financial Services sector CZ/SK.

Patrik graduated with a Masters' degree in Automatic Control and Technical Cybernetics at the Technical University in Dresden. He speaks fluent Slovak, English and German. He is married, has two children, and his hobbies are travelling and skiing.
