

Entertainment, media & communications assurance practice

What we do

The Entertainment, Media & Communications assurance practice performs audits and other attest engagements for clients in a variety of subsectors including: Broadcasting, Advertising, Mass Media, Data Communications, Publishing, and Professional Sports.

The assurance practice conducts audits for companies to issue an opinion on the companies' financial statements. We help our clients deliver quality financial statements to regulators and consumers.

Why our clients come to us

Our commitment is to the highest audit quality. We see ourselves as innovators and continue to challenge ourselves to bring a higher level of quality and value to the audit each year. Our commitment to quality is demonstrated by the deep industry experience and functional expertise integrated within our teams; the comprehensive level of our audit effort; and proactive communications with our clients.

Our practice operates within a framework set by PwC's core values: Excellence, Teamwork and Leadership.

Our typical work day

Each day is different for individuals in our group. We work in teams on all of our engagements, so we can coach, learn from and support each other.

The Entertainment, Media and Communications industry is constantly changing. Advancements in technology have a direct effect on the mode and speed in which information is transmitted. Our clients must adapt to these fluctuations, creating areas of opportunity for our teams to add value.

Our typical clients

Our clients include Fortune 500 companies – household names that you would recognize – from all parts of the Entertainment, Media & Communications industry.

We have the knowledge and experience to work with institutions and our clients come in all shapes and sizes, including both public and privately held firms.

Our typical work locations and length of engagements

Many of our clients are located in large metro areas, as well as throughout the country and internationally.

The length of our engagements vary based on the client and the type of engagement being executed. Most projects within our group last approximately two months.

What people get from working with us

Our people have the opportunity to develop their skill set daily – gaining deep, technical audit knowledge, as well as excellent communication abilities, strong global insight and leadership skills.

Working in Entertainment, Media and Communications gives you the opportunity to grow as a PwC Professional and foster personal and professional skills that will help you succeed in your career.

Where we fit in

PwC Assurance Products & Services assurance teams

Entertainment, Media & Communications

Health Industries

Technology

Industrial Products

Retail & Consumer Products

