PwC: Regulatory changes impacting captive insurance industry to be discussed at annual Captive Education Summit

Hamilton, Bermuda – PwC is pleased to announce its support and platinum sponsorship of Bermuda’s largest captive education forum for industry professionals. The Bermuda Insurance Management Association–Bermuda Insurance Institute’s 2018 Captive Education Summit takes place on December 4, at the Hamilton Princess Trudeau Ballroom from 1pm to 5pm followed by networking drinks. Registration begins at 12:30pm.

David Gibbons, PwC Bermuda Captive Insurance leader, said: “The captive industry continues to be a significant part of the overall Bermuda market and BIMA represents the interests of this market admirably, both locally and on the international stage. The education summit provides an excellent opportunity for captive industry professionals to further develop and network. PwC is proud to be involved with such an important event as its lead sponsor.”

Jennifer Masters, PwC Bermuda Manager, said: “I look forward to moderating a session on AML/ATF at the summit. This is an area I have been working very closely with various insurance managers over the last two years. AML regulation is a key part of the Bermuda Monetary Authority’s strong corporate and regulatory framework and it is great to see all the insurance managers and other regulated financial institutions so engaged.”

Kathleen A. Bibbings, President of BIMA and vice president of Bermuda Captive Services at AIG, said: “Our members look forward to the 5th annual BIMA–BII Education Summit as the premier source of captive insurance specific updates on regulatory, audit and legislative changes from the experts in our industry.”

Grainne Richmond, Executive Committee Member and past president of BIMA, said: “Once again BIMA is delighted to partner with the BII on the 5th Captive Education Summit. We would like to thank all our sponsors of this year’s event – PwC Bermuda, Marsh, Deloitte, JLT, CD&P and Dyna Management with particular thanks to our Platinum Sponsor PwC Bermuda. The summit, over the last five years has been a good source for those working in the captive industry to ensure they are up to speed on legislation and regulation impacting the captive insurance space.”

Malcolm Butterfield, BII CEO, said: “The BII is pleased to be working with BIMA on the Captive Education Summit being planned for December 4. The agenda will cover a number of current and future issues impacting the insurance industry and I would encourage everyone to register and participate in this first class and well planned event.”
