Students invited to find out where a career at PwC can take them

Hamilton, Bermuda – PwC Bermuda is hosting a careers reception for students on Wednesday, December 17 from 5:30pm to 7:30pm at the Royal Hamilton Amateur Dinghy Club.

Students currently attending or considering university and looking to pursue a career in professional services are invited to learn more about the firm. They can discover the exciting opportunities open to them through the HeadStart initiative and talk informally to the firm’s professionals, including its leaders, about a career with PwC.

Career options available at PwC include our associates, co-op and summer intern programmes and scholarship awards.

David Gibbons, PwC Bermuda Managing Director and HeadStart programme leader, said: “Our student networking reception is an invaluable way to make contact with potential employers as early as possible and fully understand the opportunities available at PwC - along with the mentoring and coaching support we offer. I encourage students to come out for this informative and enjoyable evening and discover how a career with us will benefit them for life.”
