PwC awards prizes to high school's top students

Bermuda – Building on its long standing commitment to supporting and developing Bermuda's young talent, PwC has once again awarded a series of prizes to top students at Bermuda's high schools. The awards, all of which are related to business studies, were presented by a PwC employee at the school's graduation or prize-giving ceremony. The awards were as follows:

Alexander Brown - Warwick Academy- PwC Award for the Most Improved Student in Mathematics

Somer Zuiker - Saltus Senior School- PwC Award for Excellence in Business Studies

Israel Sanchez - CedarBridge Academy- PwC Award for Most Outstanding Student in Mathematics

Keishaun Augustus - Berkeley Institute- PwC Award for Most Outstanding Student in Business Studies

Liam Nash - Somersfield Academy- PwC Award for Most Outstanding Student in Mathematics

In addition to the above awards, the following students were recognized for their hard work and dedication.

George Wilson - Bermuda High School for Girls- PwC Award for Excellence in Accounting Studies

Ryan Sousa - Mount St. Agnes Academy- PwC Award for Most Outstanding Student in Financial Management

Darren Johnston, PwC Territory Senior Partner, commented on the awards, "We are delighted to recognise local high school students who have excelled in their studies throughout the academic year, and offer wholehearted congratulations to them on their accomplishments. These high school awards are just one aspect of PwC's ongoing commitment to the education of Bermuda's youth and one small part of our HeadStart programme, which provides support to our young people as they attend university and launch their careers."

The award winners received an inscribed plaque and an Apple iPad. They will also be invited to lunch with PwC staff to discuss university and career planning as well as future opportunities at the firm. The high schools will also receive commemorative plaques.
