Our unique team is made up of individuals dedicated to providing tax and assurance services to film and video companies.

The film and television production industry in Canada continues to expand. In 2014 its annual volume was $5.86 billion – reflecting growth of about 2.1% – and it had 125,400 full-time employees.¹ The industry is supported by federal, provincial and territorial governments, which encourage investment by domestic and foreign producers through incentives that help offset the cost of productions in Canadian locations. The big table is your starting place for understanding the incentives offered in 2015.

As part of PwC’s Global entertainment and media outlook² we have also reviewed the forecast for the industry worldwide. It shows that spending on filmed entertainment will reach $104.62 billion (US) globally in 2019. As in previous years, North America remains the largest single market for filmed entertainment and continues to drive growth around the world.

Let us show you how we can leverage our global network of over 3,900 entertainment and media industry-dedicated professionals to get the most for your business. Please contact us for more information.
