

Contract tracing apps to help improve employee confidence and reduce risk exposure

Every successful business is dependent on the health, welfare and productivity of its workforce. When major business disruptions occur, such as those caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, establishing an exceptionally strong connection between employees and employers, large and small, is paramount to maintaining employee confidence and productivity.

Across our network, PwC specialists have worked to develop and successfully deploy solutions to address these issues with our own people. Now, we offer these tried and tested solutions to you.

ConTra Contact Tracer

Bluetooth contact tracing token device and app used within the workplace, hospitals, universities or general population. Features of our ConTra app, Contra ID and ConTra One standalone device include social distancing reminders + data analytic abilities.

Check-In

Check-in's Automatic Contact Tracing is a mobile app that can collect proximity information anonymously and allows managers to effectively and precisely notify employees when they may have come into contact with an at-risk colleague.

CoronaManager

Uses 'Bluetooth handshakes' and geofencing for contact tracing of those who download the app. It can keep track of health status, provide data analyses, connect to fever monitoring devices and provide localised and personalised health news. It's voluntary and anonymous and can help companies minimise any disruption due to COVID-19.

Other digital workforce solutions

As organisations look to return to workplaces, business leaders are focused on what they need to survive and thrive in a world fundamentally changed. PwC can help you build confidence and trust with your workforce, get the information you need to make mission-critical decisions and effectively tackle additional challenges including workforce productivity.
