PwC Georgia announces new direction – “Forensic Services” under its Advisory practice.

PwC in Georgia has strengthened its Advisory practice with the addition of Forensic Services as the practice develops further.

TBILISI, 25 February 2020 -- PricewaterhouseCoopers Georgia LLC (PwC Georgia) has announced a new service as its Advisory practice develops further and appoints Anastasia ANSVORT-SMITH, Senior Manager as Forensic Services leader.

Anastasia joined PwC Georgia Forensic Services team after her 12 years' experience in Assurance in Big4 firms including PwC Russia, 7 out of which were spent in Australia, providing services to large multinational clients in various industries, including oil field services, refineries, gambling, manufacturing, automobile, chemical, shipping, forestry and agriculture. She has also been exposed to many audits of government and not for profits entities.

Anastasia graduated from Bond University, Gold Coast, Australia with Bachelor of Commerce majoring in Accounting and Finance.

Anastasia is a member of the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA, UK).

What is Forensic Services?

Protect your business value. Emerge stronger.

PwC's Forensic Services help organisations manage and overcome their economic crime risks. Should companies experience or suspect embezzlement and fraud or have disagreements with their suppliers or between the shareholders, PwC can help chart the facts and obtain evidence.

Forensic Services is part of PwC global "Forensic Services". Our Eurasia and Central and Eastern Europe (CEE) teams have extensive experience in corporate investigations, dispute and litigation support, including providing expert opinions and evidence across the region and globally. We have a dedicated team in Georgia and representatives in all major countries in the region under the leadership and management of experienced professionals. Our regional Forensic Services practice includes more than 20 full-time specialists, whose genuine expertise and local knowledge can really make a difference in the outcome of an investigation or a dispute.

PwC Georgia's Forensic Services include:

- Fraud investigations and prevention
- Disputes and Litigation support
- Corporate intelligence
- Compliance (Anti-corruption and Anti-money laundering (AML))
- Data analytics
