AI as a growth engine

Treating AI solely as a cost-cutting tool limits its potential. Companies that use it to unlock new markets and revenue streams gain far greater value.

This publication has been prepared to remind readers of some general important dates for filing tax returns and making tax payments administered by the Ghana Revenue Authority (GRA). The taxes covered are Income Tax - Company Income Tax, Personal Income Tax, Pay As You Earn and other Withholding Taxes; Financial Sector Recovery Levy; Growth and Sustainability Levy; Value Added Tax, Ghana Education Trust Fund Levy; National Health Insurance Levy; COVID-19 Health Recovery Levy; and Communications Service Tax. Due dates for filing Income Tax estimate and Mineral Royalties returns have also been presented. Additionally, we have provided the due dates for submitting Retirement Contributions reports and making payments to the Social Security and National Insurance Trust and other appropriate approved trustee(s).

Additional and substituted holidays have not been shown in this publication. Historically, if a compliance date is declared a public holiday, the working day preceding the holiday is considered by the GRA as the new date for statutory compliance purposes.

Although we have taken reasonable care in compiling this calendar, it does not constitute professional advice. You should therefore not act upon the information contained in this publication without obtaining specific professional advice. Note:

Where the actual due date falls on a weekend or public holiday, the date indicated is the last working day preceding the actual due date. However, with the introduction of the online filing platforms (Ghana.Gov and Taxpayers Portal), taxpayers can file returns and make payments even on weekends or public holidays.
