Shape your future

The PwC Deals graduate programme for EMEA and Asia Pacific

Show us your many talents...

Edge offers global development across Deals capabilities, together with leading professional and technical learning in an international setting, including the option to complete a professional qualification.

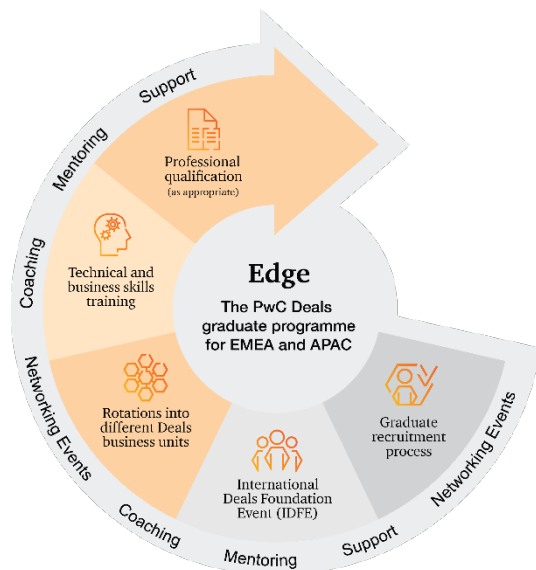

Joining us means you'll work with international teams of high-performing and talented dealmakers, using leading technology to solve some of the most demanding challenges in the Deals environment. You'll gain exposure to high-impact work, build a strong global network and grow personally and professionally. The programme focuses on sustainability, technology and value creation — areas central to how we help clients address complex challenges.

If you're looking for a meaningful international experience with real impact, Edge offers a distinctive launchpad to your career at PwC — giving you the confidence to take your next step so you can make a meaningful impact from day one.

... and we will give you the edge...

Are you ready to shape the future of business? PwC's Edge programme is your gateway to a high-impact career in Deals, where you will go beyond the transaction to find and unlock lasting value for our clients.

Designed for ambitious graduates across the globe, Edge offers a unique blend of international networking opportunities, rotations through different deals capabilities, regular professional and technical learning, and the opportunity to complete a professional qualification (as appropriate). From day one, you'll be part of a diverse, collaborative network solving complex challenges with leading technology and purpose-driven thinking.

Do you have what it takes?

We have graduates in our business from a wide range of backgrounds. We believe that this diversity makes our teams more powerful, dynamic and successful.

So no matter what you're studying, we're genuinely interested in hearing from you.

...that will develop you into an international Deals professional.

Strong professional network. You'll have numerous opportunities to develop relationships across PwC teams and beyond your national boundaries. You'll attend an international onboarding event that will focus on you, your learning and your network.

Breadth of experience. The insights that you gain on your rotations will give you the foundation to become a leading adviser in our international Deals business and build experience across the whole Deal cycle.

Leading learning. Access to current professional and technical learning with the support to complete a professional qualification (where relevant).

Digital skills. Enhance your digital skills and stay relevant in our ever-evolving world of new technologies. You'll have access to market-leading analytics tools as well as forward-thinking perspectives that drive transformation and growth.

Match your skills. Build knowledge working in teams in a talent-rich environment, connecting with others, helping you choose a specific industry and Deals area you want to specialise in.
