Healthcare Data Sheet

Many healthcare organisations have publicly declared their commitment to Diversity & Inclusion (D&I), but how have they translated strategy into execution and what impact is it having on the employee experience? PwC's D&I Benchmarking Survey seeks to find out.

Diversity still a barrier to progression

Healthcare organisations are struggling with translating D&I strategy into action. While D&I is a stated value or priority area for 68% of organisations, only about half of respondents (51%) disagree that diversity is a barrier to progression at their organisation.

Few D&I programmes reach full maturity

Only 4% of healthcare organisations' D&I programmes reach the highest level of maturity when assessed against the four dimensions of PwC's D&I maturity model.

1. Understanding the Facts of Today (UFT): Initiating a continuous data-driven process for understanding the facts of what's happening in the organisation today

2. Building an Inspirational Strategy (BIS): Creating a business-focused vision and strategy for D&I that reflects the reality of today and the real potential of tomorrow

3. Developing Leadership Engagement (DLE): Engaging leadership around an inspirational D&I strategy by articulating the business case and establishing supportive governance

4. Creating Sustainable Movement (CSM): Executing the D&I strategy across all elements of the business

Degree of programme maturity

D&I programme goals

Roughly a quarter of healthcare organisations surveyed (25%) view their D&I programme primarily as a way to comply with legal requirements, with fewer connecting D&I directly to the achievement of business results, such as innovation, or the ability to respond to customers' expectations.

The primary objective of D&I is to...

Programme oversight

While survey data indicates that a dedicated C-Suite D&I leader is a differentiator among organisations where diversity is not seen as a barrier to progression and those where it is, only 10% of healthcare organisations have adopted this programme structure.

The D&I programme leader is...

Accountability for D&I results

Tasking leaders with specific D&I goals is key to driving results. Despite this, less than a third (29%) of healthcare organisations have adopted this practice, with fewer measuring progress toward meeting goals or holding leaders accountable.

How does your organisation drive accountability for D&I results?

Leaders are tasked with specific D&I goals	29%
Leaders' progress toward meeting their D&I goals is measured	17%
D&I goals influence performance evaluation and compensation outcomes for leaders	14%
D&I goals influence performance evaluation and compensation outcomes for all employees	13%
None of the above	32%

Training programmes in place

A leading practice is to provide training on how to embed inclusive behaviours into everyday job responsibilities. Yet, only 24% of healthcare organisations adopt this practice.

Training programmes focus on...

Role of affinity networks/ resource groups

While the majority (60%) of healthcare organisations have affinity groups, they are mostly used to foster networks and execute programmes, rather than to inform decision-making and drive business priorities.

Affinity groups at my organisation...

Leveraging data

Driving sustainable change requires effective monitoring efforts. The majority of organisations track employee demographics (e.g., gender), but significantly less measure discrepancies in compensation, performance, or promotions based on these attributes.
