PwC Isle of Man has announced that three of their long standing professionals have been promoted due to growth within the firm.

Wendy Jessup has been promoted to Senior Manager in the assurance department. Wendy joined PwC Isle of Man in 2003 and qualified in 2006. In 2008 she then undertook a secondment to PwC London's technical team where she advised on complex financial reporting matters. She returned to the Isle of Man in 2011 and has further developed her technical role including speaking at a number of high profile local events.

Johann Marais has been promoted to Senior Manager in the actuarial department. Johann heads up PwC's Isle of Man actuarial team and his promotion will allow him to develop his extensive experience and knowledge of the Isle of Man insurance and pension industries.

Tracy McAvoy has been promoted to Manager in the assurance department. Tracy's promotion will enable her to build on her wealth of knowledge across the financial sectors within the Island.

Ian Clague, Senior Partner at PwC Isle of Man said: “We are proud to congratulate these outstanding professionals, who each demonstrate real-life examples of what it means to be a leader at PwC. They have already proven their ability to adapt to new challenges, to provide distinguished client service and to nurture the careers of those around them. PwC in the Isle of Man continues to demonstrate growth and success in the market which has enabled us to offer promotional opportunities and it is hugely satisfying to see talented individuals like Wendy, Tracy and Johann fulfilling their potential.”
