

Benchmarking studies

Benchmarking studies are an essential part of TP analysis that identifies market data comparable with the company or transaction being analysed. Benchmarking studies should be prepared to show that your controlled transactions are arm's length.

Comparables include profit margins or prices applied in transactions by comparable companies. Choosing an appropriate type of comparables depends on the controlled transaction being analysed.

Contacts

PwC transfer pricing team

+371 6709 4400

lv_transfertcenas_info@pwc.com

How we can help you:

- Analysing your internal comparables
- Preparing benchmarking studies to analyse your controlled transactions involving goods or services
- Preparing benchmarking studies to analyse your controlled transactions involving intangible assets
- Preparing benchmarking studies for your controlled financial transactions

How you benefit:

- You have a sense of security, as your TP is supported by objective market data.
- Your benchmarking studies are prepared according to Latvian statutory requirements.
- You make a saving, as no separate subscription to database licences is required.

