Energy & Projects

An overview

As the only Big 4 firm with an integrated law firm in the region, PwC Legal offers a truly integrated approach to professional services for our Middle East clients.

Established in the region for over 40 years, PwC's Middle East network covers 12 countries, over 20 offices and employs more than 4,000 people. PwC Legal Middle East has been strategically based in Dubai for the last 10 years as a hub for our regional legal services offering and to ensure proximity to our network of Middle East clients. We cover the Middle East through our 50-strong team of lawyers and legal professionals located in the region, and our network of preferred and trusted regional local firms with whom we regularly work.

PwC Legal Middle East

PwC Legal Middle East delivers quality, integrated legal advice seamlessly alongside PwC's other regional lines of service in a multi-disciplinary end to end offering, combining our legal capabilities with the expertise which exists across PwC. The ability to embed legal advice more fully into our advisory services allows us to better help our clients solve their complex challenges and problems.

Each of our legal service offerings is managed by a dedicated, specialised and experienced team with regional and local market expertise.

Our clients in the Middle East include public and private companies, governments, banks, investment houses, sovereign wealth funds, family businesses and non-profit organisations based within the region and around the globe.

We have a strong, multicultural, multi-skilled team of staff with a successful track record of building close relationships with our clients.
