

NewLaw: innovation, technology and efficiencies for the future legal function

TRANSFORM. INNOVATE. DIFFERENTIATE.

Legal teams are under more pressure than ever to transform and adapt to the demands of an evolving business landscape.

PwC NewLaw, consisting of highly experienced lawyers and legal sector professionals, works with clients to improve the way legal services are delivered. We use data, technology and new delivery models to unlock material, future value.

Quantifiable benefits of legal transformation up to 30%

of lawyers' time is spent on non-legal tasks which can be reduced to increase capacity and ensure time is spent on the right work

Consulting

- Strategy development
- Right-sourcing and vendor management
- Organisational design
- Capability development
- Implementation support
- Change management

up to 35%

time and cost savings from improved workflows and intake, matter management, document automation and team structuring

Technology & Data

- Technology roadmap and business case
- Technology configuration and implementation
- Data and metrics strategy
- Data-driven insights and dashboards

up to 15%

of external legal spend can be reduced through panel formation or restructuring and the use of low cost legal providers for routine work

Outsourced Services

- Outsourcing strategy
- Outsourced legal services
- Workflow and document automation
- Document review and contract remediation
- Outsourced legal operations

Key contacts

Allison Hosking
NewLaw Leader, PwC
Legal Middle East
allison.hosking@pwc.com

Shaden El Shibiny
PwC Legal Middle East Manager
shaden.elshibiny@pwc.com