Corporate training programme:

All of the courses above can be run in-house. This may be more cost effective for your business when a significant number of your employees need training. It also enables some customisation of the course materials. Additionally, we have also designed training courses on the topics below:

A good understanding of International Financial Reporting Standards is crucial to applying them. Banks in particular have to cope with specific complex and changing IFRS themes. In order to meet this specific industry knowledge need, we are currently developing a comprehensive IFRS e-learning curriculum for banks.

Our pricing model includes a one time fee for unlimited access for 4 years or S$48 per registered user per module.
