PwC Slovakia is the largest consulting firm in Slovakia for the third year running

Bratislava, 13 November 2015 – PwC Slovakia retained its position as the largest consulting firm on the Slovak market for the third year running according to the TREND weekly. With revenues of more than EUR 41 million in 2014, the firm recorded 23% growth year-on-year. PwC Slovakia is the auditor for 38 firms in the TREND TOP 200. The ranking was published in the annual TREND TOP yearbook on 12 November 2015, which is compiled by the TREND economic and business weekly.

"We are proud of our achievements and that we remain the largest consulting firm in Slovakia for the third consecutive year. Our talented and motivated people form the strong foundation of our business. When you put this together with our entrepreneurial culture, this gives us an edge over our competitors and delivers value to our customers. In 2015 we have continued to grow in most areas of our business, but particularly in core audit, tax consulting and professional training services delivered by our Academy," commented the results Todd Bradshaw, country managing partner, PwC Slovakia.

According to the Financial Times, PwC is the largest consulting firm in the world (6.10.2015). PwC's revenues grew by 10% to USD 35.4 billion in the financial year 2015. This is the strongest revenue growth for the last eight years. This is up markedly from the previous year and the strongest year-on year growth that PwC has seen since FY 2007. Growth was strong across all lines of business and in all geographic regions. Advisory operations, which make up 30% of PwC's total global revenues, had a major share in this growth.
