Time: 8:30 – 17:00

To give internal auditors the ability to apply risk based internal auditing principles to audits assignments.

Benefits of attending

Objective

To give internal auditors the ability to develop an effective annual internal audit plan to address the needs and expectations of the stakeholders and the key risks of the organization.

Recent years have watched significant reformation of banks in Vietnam in order to improve liquidity, strengthening financial position and meeting with increasing requirements from the State Bank of Vietnam and foreign investors. With timeline to Basel II adoption coming, Vietnam banks will have to do a lot more to achieve their objectives including their financial objectives and compliance with this international regulatory framework.

“Internal audit (IA) helps an organization accomplish its objectives by bringing a systematic, disciplined approach to evaluate and improve the effectiveness of risk management, control, and governance processes”- quote from Definition of IA by The Institute of Internal auditors (IIA). Moreover, circular 44 issued by The Sate bank of Vietnam on IA activities states Internal audit to apply risk based approach.

Who should attend?

- Audit directors
- Audit managers
- Audit team leaders
- Internal auditors in banks who want to improve their current internal audit processes.

Risk based approach facilitates the optimization of limited IA resources to prioritise for areas/activities with higher/medium risk. Beside traditional high risk areas in banks i.e. credit risks, should emerging market risks, operational risks including but not limited to cyber risk, compliance risks and or fraud risks be taken into assessment for the development of annual internal audit plan?

With PwC's expertise in internal audit and training experience for banks, we will bring you hands on knowledge to apply in your development of risk based annual internal audit plan to meet with key stakeholders' expectations and in line with corporate's objectives.

This is a participative one-day course that will include face to face training, workshop sessions and exercises.
